

Delft Road Safety Course for LMICs 2022-2023

Admittance and Scholarship policy

During the registration period participants can register for a seat in the Delft Road Safety Course for LMICs 2022-2023. Participants can apply for a Scholarship as well. This policy sets out the policy how the selection takes place and scholarships are awarded. By submitting your registration for the course, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and agreed to these conditions. Delft Road Safety Courses reserves the right to modify these conditions.

1. Course plans

The Delft Road Safety Course for LMIC 2022-2023 consists of two consecutive parts: an online part and a classroom part. Participation in the full course is encouraged and prioritized in the selection and allocation of the scholarships. However, it is possible to enrol in only one of the parts. The enrolment fees are communicated on the website

2. Selection criteria

After the registration has closed, an independent selection committee will evaluate the applications against the following criteria

- The registration needs to be complete (i.e. all information requested for in the registration form needs to be in place). Registrations missing information or documents are considered ineligible.
- Compliance to the target group profile:
  - Academic or higher professional education, preferably master degree, with relevance for road safety
  - Strong position in road safety policy and/or research, preferably at a regular permanent post
  - English language proficiency: spoken and written
  - Convincing motivation and capacity to contribute to the improvement of road safety in LMIC
- In addition, a limit is put on the number of participants from one country (max 2 or 3). Please note that all lectures, discussions, and course materials are in English.

3. Scholarships

Participants may apply for a scholarship to cover for the course fee. The scholarship does not cover travel costs. Participants are responsible to book and finance their travel costs.

Scholarships are provided for the classroom part of the course only. That means that participants will have to cover the course fee for the online part themselves.

Scholarships of 25%, 50%, 75% and 100% of the course fee are offered. A limited number of scholarships is available. The organisation of Delft Road Safety Courses will decide upon the offering to each participant.

Participants that have registered for the full course (i.e. not for one of the separate parts) are prioritized.

The scholarships will be assigned after the completion of the online part of the course. Participants in the full course applying for a scholarship need to have successfully completed the online part.

Participants selected for a scholarship will need to reconfirm their participation and their possibility to travel after the completion of the online part. The course organisation will initiate a reconfirmation process for this in due time.
